

How to get to the institute?

Max Planck Institute
for Evolutionary Anthropology
Deutscher Platz 6
04103 Leipzig
Germany

By train/tram

When you arrive at the Leipzig railway station leave the building, and you will find yourself at Willy-Brandt-Platz. Buy a ticket "Einzelfahrkarte Leipzig" at one of the ticket counters or automats and stamp it right after boarding the tram. Take tram number 16 to the destination "Löbnig" (or "Lössnig") and get off at the 5th stop called "Deutsche Nationalbibliothek". Turn left, cross the street Semmelweisstraße, and you will find yourself at Deutscher Platz. The Institute, a modern building with a glass facade, is at your right.

By car

Coming from Autobahn (national route) A9, change to A14 at Schkeuditzer Kreuz direction Dresden. Follow A14, then take the exit Leipzig-Mitte, and follow the road B2 for approx. 20 minutes. You will pass Berliner Strasse, Georgiring, Prager Strasse. Turn right when you reach Semmelweisstraße, the sign there says "Alte Messe, Deutsche Bücherei". Cross Philipp-Rosenthal-Strasse and turn left when you reach Strasse des 18. Oktober. Entering Deutscher Platz you see the Institute, a modern building at your right handside.
