Conference Description

This conference will bring together researchers working on the syntactic structure of less widely studied languages from a variety of perspectives. Contributions are expected to be based on first-hand data of individual languages or to adopt a broadly comparative perspective. All major theoretical frameworks are equally welcome, as is work done in analytical frameworks developed in typology or field linguistics.

Papers that adopt a diachronic/historical-comparative perspective or that discuss language-contact effects are also welcome, as are papers dealing with morphological or semantic issues, as long as syntactic issues also play a major role.

Authors should not presuppose detailed knowledge of their theoretical framework, and the papers should focus on widely relevant theoretical issues, minimizing theory-internal argumentation. We recognize that questions raised by theoretical frameworks often lead to the discovery of interesting phenomena in lesser studied languages. However, the goal of applying a theoretical framework should be seen as subsidiary to the main purpose of the conference, that of enlarging our knowledge and understanding of the syntactic phenomena of the world's languages.

Invited speakers:

Peter Austin (SOAS London)

Maria Polinsky (UC San Diego)

Marianne Mithun (UC Santa Barbara)

Local organizers:

Balthasar Bickel (University of Leipzig)

Martin Haspelmath (Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology)

Conference Coordinator:

Claudia Schmidt & Sabine Tatzelt

Further members of the Abstract-reading Committee:

Alexandra Y. Aikhenvald (La Trobe U, Melbourne)

Bernard Comrie (MPI for Evolutionary Anthropology, Leipzig)

Donna Gerds (Simon Fraser U, Vancouver)

Stéphane Robert (LLACAN, Paris)

Jane Simpson (University of Sydney)

The time allotted for presentation and discussion is 35 minutes. Participants may not be involved in more than two abstracts, of which at most one may be single-authored. English is the preferred language at the conference.

Participants, Talks and Handouts

(Participants in grey were unable to attend the conference.)

Plenary talks:

Peter Austin
(SOAS London)

Argument encoding and clause linkage - aspects of a cross-linguistic typology.

Marianne Mithun
(UC Santa Barbara)

The non-universality of obliques. [\[pdf\]](#)

Maria Polinsky
(UC San Diego)

D-linking from a cross-linguistic perspective.

Session talks:

Abdoulaye, Mahamane L.
(University of Antwerp)

Four uses of the relative marking in Hausa. [\[pdf\]](#)

Amiridze, Nino
(Utrecht Institute of Linguistics OTS)

Reflexives in A function in Georgian.

Anderson, Greg
(Salem, OR)

Problems in the diachronic syntax of the Munda languages: Noun incorporation.

Bickel, Balthasar
(Universität Leipzig)

Constraining focus and extraction domains, or: never underestimate syntactic diversity! [\[pdf\]](#)

Bouchard, Denis and Rinfret, Julie
(Université du Québec à Montréal)

The syntax of noun modification in Langue des Signes Québécoise.

Bowern, Claire
(Harvard University)

The syntax of complex predicates in Bardi and North Australia.

Bril, Isabelle
(CNRS-LACITO Paris)

Scope and domains of clause-linking markers in Oceanic Languages.

Bruno, Ana Carla
(INPA Manaus)

Phrase Structure, Clauses, and Word Order in Waimiri Atroari (Carib Family).

Cabredo Hofherr, Patricia
(CNRS Paris)

A comparative study of impersonal pronouns in Somali, French and German.
[\[pdf\]](#)

Camargo, Eliane
(CNRS-CELIA Paris)

The split system in Wayana (a cariban language).

Cole, Peter and Hermon, Gabriella
with Tjung, Yassir
Sim, Chang-Yong
Kim, Chonghyuck
(University of Delaware)

Are all anaphors subject to the binding theory? [\[pdf\]](#)

Comrie, Bernard and Guirardello-Damian, Raquel
(MPI for Evolutionary Anthropology, Leipzig, and UCSB; MPI for Psycholinguistics, Nijmegen, and University of Bristol)

Trumai and the internal syntax of numeral expressions. [\[pdf\]](#)

Creissels, Denis
(Université Lumière Lyon 2)

Non-canonical applicatives and focalization in Tswana. [\[pdf\]](#)
